

What do children really need to know?

About what God is like?

About what God has done?

About what God has promised?

What God wants them to do?

